Topics Discussed:

According to the task given during the last meeting, some of us talked to a few doctors in order to get an idea of how things work in a hospital and the way the current system functions. We shared with each other what we had learned and discussed what would be the first steps to take in creating the web application. That led to a brainstorm on how the structure of the project would be and we started keeping notes on the elements needed for each type of user such as: doctor, patient, admin. We also created a questionnaire for the hospital staff, in order for us to know what to ask and to get the necessary information we need.

Decisions Made:

- Managed to create a general idea of how the users will interact and relate to each other deciding also about their limitations and permissions.
- Created a questionnaire on what to ask the doctors we will be communicating with.

Tasks Assigned:

- Each one of us should continue communicating with hospital staff.
- Research on different frameworks.
